WALK AND PUB LUNCH, THE BARLEY MOW, TILFORD, TUESDAY 2nd SEPTEMBER

A limited turnout, but we happy few, five in all, set off at a brisk pace, confident that the drizzle would be shortlived, and so it proved. In perfect walking weather, we crossed the medieval bridge and started out 'there and back' rather than the usual round-trip. This was truly rural, evidenced by "Sheephatch Lane" and "Squire's Hill" and the like. For all the above reasons, we arrived promptly at the pub, joined by four more diners and a fine meal.

The pub was built in 1705, and was a beer house by 1763, a date inscribed on the chimney-stack. Famous cricketer Billy Beldham became landlord in 1821. He was an acclaimed batsman in the age of underarm bowling. He's said to haunt the pub!
